Hockey Skills & Training Program

Presented by the Lakeville South Boys High School Hockey Coaching Staff

SOUTH – BANTAM/2ND YR PEEWEE LEVEL.

Dates: JUNE 11th – JULY 19th, 2012

The Synergy Training program is a comprehensive on-ice hockey training program that is specially designed to help young men prepare and develop their hockey skills to meet the demands of impacting the game at the Bantam/PW level. It is therefore designed for players who are going to be Bantam/2nd year PW eligible during the 2012-2013 hockey season.

New this year, the Synergy training program is specifically design to accelerate development of skills and strategic/situational understanding that are necessary to play at the bantam level. Synergy is designed to give forwards & defensemen the competitive edge on the ice. The camp will focus on spatial understanding, explosive scoring techniques, face-offs, dominating along the boards, cycling, puck protection, creating time and space, battling, attack principals, 1 vs 1, 2 vs 1, 2 vs 2, 3 vs 2.

Each week players will learn how to compete in situational play. We will focus on specific game situations and teach players how to successfully compete in these situations. We begin with individual skills, teaching players how to read and understand the situation. Then we escalate these situations into multiple player situations, small areas, spatial assessment and then competitive games. We attack each situation from both the offensive and defensive perspective.

Our training principles will include visualization, learning through video analysis, situational strategies and execution, shooting technique, spatial intelligence, stick agility mechanics, small area games.

Philosophy:

The principles behind the idea of Synergy (all together at the same time) are to develop all the skills necessary to execute hockey game situations at a level that will produce effective results.

Because all players are on a continuum of development, where either their understanding of situational play or their skill sets are limiting factors to their ability to create time and space. The ability to produce time and space produces more positive decisions and effective outcomes.

Standard approaches to training assume all players have both the skill set and the knowledge base to just go out and be successful. Yet when you watch hockey games you realize they very seldom do. In fact, it is the rare player who can create time and space. And thereby get the most accomplished in a game.

Players who are missing either the skill sets or the understanding of how to effectively play in many different situations will have limited success.

It is our plan, through video analysis and highly effective on-ice instruction, to focus intensely on situational play, skill sets and knowledge necessary to produce success.

This Comprehensive program includes:

On-Ice Skills, Situations and Game systems- 4 times per week (Monday-Thursday)

On ice activities will focus on pushing players out of their comfort zone in situational play and skill development.
