If an ejected player prevents a team from fielding nine (9) players, the manager may insert a player previously used in the line-up. In this case, the opposing team manager shall select the player to re-enter the line-up. A player ejected from the game is not eligible for re-entry. NOTE: An improper substitution is NOT basis for disqualification or forfeiture, and should not be confused with action to be taken when playing an ineligible player. When it has been determined that a player has been substituted improperly, the Umpire-In-Chief shall order the player removed and the game resumed after a proper substitution has been made.

The batting order will be the official line-up; with the exception of the pitcher any of the other 9 players may switch positions including the extra hitter. (This is an option only, however if you start with 10 you must use 10 the whole game and if a player gets hurt or sick and no substitutes are available an out will be taken when that player is scheduled to bat.)

JJ. Double Forfeits will follow this guideline; if both teams are undefeated then a coin toss will be used to determine which loser bracket game each team will go to. The loser of the coin toss will go to the loser bracket for that game, the winner of the coin toss will go to the winners bracket and then go to the losers bracket of that game with the team they would have played getting a forfeit win. If it is double forfeit in the loser's bracket, both teams are eliminated and the team the winner was to play receives a forfeit win

If a player is ejected in his/her team's last district tournament game and the district commissioner extends the ejection to the next game, the player must sit out the team's first state tournament game.
