

AAHA Move-Up to High School Hockey Policy

AAHA recognizes some players may have the opportunity to move up to high school hockey. Players may participate in AAHA tryouts while exploring a high school opportunity. To ensure proper planning and fairness, the following policy applies:

- If a player is invited to try out for high school hockey, AAHA must be notified by the high school coach and/or the player's parent/guardian.
- If a player tries out for AAHA, is offered a team, and accepts the placement by playing an AAHA game, the player is considered committed to AAHA for the season.
 - If the player later chooses to move to high school hockey, no refund will be issued.
- If a player tries out for AAHA, is offered a team, and does not play a game with the placed AAHA team, a prorated refund will be provided, less any non-refundable fees.

This policy exists to protect roster stability and ensure fair opportunities for all players.
