Then I went to the electronics department to buy a t.v. because the antenna on mine broke. I can't believe how many t.v's they have nowadays. I told him I don't know how to play the piano...He kept looking at me like I was crazy or something. I told him I need that email thing because I want to read about the YMSL. The guy is showing me how to send the email, then he goes crazy on me because I asked him where do I put the stamp?.....After I spent all that money, my Impala died after only 500,000 miles, so now I need a new car.
