

About Coach Peters:

Coach Peters grew up in Chicago where he played competitive AAA hockey (top level in Illinois) at both the club and national development level. He spent 10 years working for the New Jersey Devils Hockey Club in their Marketing/Youth Hockey Grass Roots Community Department.

It was in New Jersey where he developed a strong coaching philosophy that allowed him to be successful in winning multiple tournaments throughout the Northeast at the squirts – midgets levels. In two seasons, Coach Peters' squirt teams were crowned New Jersey Youth League Champs.

In 2017, he and his native Metro-Boston wife, Meredith, moved to Massachusetts. Coach Peters is excited to bring his skill, knowledge, and philosophy to the SeaHawks family.

Coach Peters has already facilitated multiple skills sessions, and a summer mini-camp, for SeaHawks bantams and midgets. His physical skill on the ice is evident, but it's his passion and communication skills that make him flourish as an instructor.

Edge work, skating, passing, shooting, and game-situation drills are just some of the basics that will be covered. Coach Peters understands players' varying skill levels and will challenge each kid to meet realistic expectations.
