Introduction

Welcome to the 4th edition of the streamlined Canadian Junior Football League Record Book.

The 2024 season had some surprises on the field and on the scoreboards. For the first time since 2008, the OFC winners hosted the BCFC champions, and the St. Clair Saints (pictured on the cover) prevailed for the first Canadian Bowl win for an OFC team since 1999 when the Saints' predecessors, the Windsor AKO Fratmen, reached that same peak. Along the way to the 2024 national championship, there were upsets in each conference during the regular season, bitter defeats, and oh so sweet wins, but most of all, for the players, coaches, and team executives in 5 provinces of our great nation, there was great camaraderie. Other sports can replicate those feelings on the field, in the gym, or at the arena, but no sport can match the sheer size of our teams and the large amount of folks that assist on the sidelines.

Earlier this year, the CJFL announced a new initiative – to name a “Quarter Century Team” – the all-stars of the all-stars if you would. As the voters deliberated over a score of outstanding amateur athletes to consider, it was quickly realized that there could not be just one team named, but rather many teams because there were so many great players! The league opted to name an Offense and Defense for each decade within the first 25 years of this century – and then expanded it to name two complete teams per decade. We knew full well that there were still dozens of players worthy of being named to any of these teams, which just highlights how truly inspiring our league is if you just take a second to look. And I hope that you do take that look – at a local game, virtually through the various streaming options, or just at this Record Book because it is really for you – the fans and players of this great sport of amateur football.

The Record Book has 3 main categories – regular season accomplishments for both individuals and teams, and similar categories for playoffs and national championships. For the playoff listings, this includes all semi-final games within a conference, conference championships, and inter-conference games (of all types of playoff formats) in one category for the playoffs. The national championship games (including the historical games for the Leader-Post Trophy and the Armadale Cup) for the Canadian Bowl, are listed separately.

Within each of those 3 main categories are the individual and team accomplishments with sub-categories being Offense, Special Teams, Defense, and Other Records. The Record Book aligns with how game and conference summaries are produced on a weekly basis during each season.

Wherever possible, we have listed 10 accomplishments per sub-category (unless there is a tie for the 10th place in that sub-category), with more recent accomplishments listed first (for ease of use by those who access the Record Book online the most – current players, fans, and team personnel). When accomplishments are the same (accomplishment & date), those records are listed alphabetically by the player's last name or the team name, as appropriate. The only exception is when a record was reached where the individuals or teams have not played the same number of games. In those cases, the individual or team that reached that milestone in the fewest number of games is listed first. Entries that are bolded in red are new entries into the Record Book.

Each page is numbered, and the categories being described on each page are listed in a footnote.

This update, like the last three, have been completed with the assistance of Harvey Kehler and Ryan Watters of the CJFL, Paul Shortt and Heather Foster of the BCFC, Laury Plant and Darren Cocchetto of the OFC, and Harvey Kehler of the PFC.

The efforts of the team statisticians are really where the numbers come from. Without their work, game in, game out, none of these updates get done. We all owe them a big thank you!

Respectfully,
Ed Plant

The Quarter Century Teams

Over the past 25 years, literally thousands of players have played in the CJFL. Many have come from high school football or minor football programs. Other have come from university level football, and some have been totally new to the sport. The latter category was historically felt at the placekicker position, but that has changed too. Large men from the farms, skilled athletes from other sports, and even some young women have been part of the CJFL lately. Some have been signed into the CFL or even the NFL, while a lot have moved to the U Sports teams, and many others have given back as a referee or coach following their playing careers.

In the spring of 2025, the league decided to highlight those individuals who excelled at our sport through the naming of a CJFL Quarter Century First and Second Team on both the offensive and defensive side of the ball, along with recognition of the best special teams players. The names selected were chosen and voted upon by a panel of CJFL personnel that stretches across the country. Stats, strength of team/conference, and individual awards were taken into account for the following “teams”, listed by decade. Congratulations to this inaugural set of players and coaches so named as the Quarter Century Teams!

MOST SINGLES, GAME

This category is dominated by players dating from 1895 to, at the most recent, 1937. Modern football is quite different from our rugby roots so 12 singles scored in a game in 1920, to 8 or 9 singles scored in games from 1905 through to 1937 will stand as records for the foreseeable future.

DEFENSE

The CJFL is one of the few leagues that assigns point values for defensive stats, as shown on the defense summary for each game. Here are the point values for your reference: Blocked Kicks and Interceptions = 4 points each; Quarterback Sacks (solo sacks) = 3 points each; Tackles, Special Teams Tackles, Knock Downs (Batted Balls), Forced Fumbles, Fumble Returns, Fumble Return TD's and Interception Return for TD's = 2 points each; Shared Quarterback Sacks (2 players) = 1.5 points each; and Assisted Tackles and Assisted Special Teams Tackles = 1 point each.

Team Records

National Championships

As was done for the Individual records achieved in a national championship, the following Team categories are collectively labelled as “National Championships” and combines all playoff games that were played from 1925 to the present to crown a national champion. This includes all Canadian Bowl games and its historical predecessors, the Leader-Post Trophy (1925 to 1974) and the Armadale Cup (1975 to 1988).
