

NSC Indoor Facilities Preparedness Plan 9.30.20

Before starting games for any sport, consider the risk associated with that sport in terms of COVID-19 being spread between players, coaches, and spectators.

- The more physical or close contact that occurs, the greater risk there is in spreading illness.
- A sport or training that takes place indoors is more high risk than those done outdoors.

Know Before You Play

There may be an increased risk of COVID-19 when participating in a game or tournament, and COVID-19 activity may be different in different regions of the state, also contributing to a possible increase in risk.

Have Health Protocols in Place

- Any staff, volunteers, or participants who are sick or experiencing symptoms must stay home.
- Have policies in place outlining the process for those who become sick while participating in a sport.
- Be aware that persons can get a positive COVID-19 test even if they do not have symptoms.
- Please visit link below if you have any questions about which symptoms would disqualify an athlete or coach from attending practice:

Preparedness Plan Administrator for Your Organization's COVID-19 plan.

- Communicate your COVID-19 plan to officials, umpires, and trainers.
- Email your COVID-19 preparedness plan to your respective NSC contact.
- This should include expectations around screening, face coverings, and other prevention efforts.

Recommendations for Slowing the Spread of COVID-19 During Play

- Consider whether contact in the sport can be modified. For example, can contact be reduced among players during practice, and even during games, in order to limit close contact?
- Minimize sharing of objects.
 - Do not share individual water bottles, community snacks, or towels.
 - Encourage use of dedicated personal equipment such as bats, mitts, rackets, etc.

Indoor Facility Guidelines for Athletes and Coaches:

- By entering this facility, each athlete and coach declares that they do not have the following symptoms: Fever, cold, fatigue, headache, sore throat, runny nose, cough, shortness of breath, body aches, loss of taste and smell, nausea, diarrhea.

 - According to the state guidelines, face coverings can be removed when participating in organized sports where the level of exertion makes wearing a face covering difficult.
- Please wait in car until 10 minutes prior to practice time – no early admission to practice or competition.
- Masks are required in locker rooms and entrance areas by all athletes, coaches, and spectators.
