

Zac Lytle is associated with the following organizations

The “little bit extra” is what separates great players from good players. Players that have a strong foundation in the fundamentals of the sport have more success throughout their youth hockey career. On ice sessions will focus on skating, stickhandling, passing and shooting. (Body contact with peewees and older). Off ice training will take a player through workouts that will train specific to the sport as well as build a better overall athlete. If you have been looking for that “extra” training this is your opportunity.

Services available

- 1 on 1 on ice skill development
- Small group clinics
- Off ice supervised workouts

Weekly ice time Sunday mornings through March 3rd-April 14th, 10:00-11:00am 11:00-12:00pm

Off ice training available throughout the week

For more information about options for on ice skill development and off ice hockey specific training contact me at the following
e-mail: Zlhockey4@gmail.com
Cell: (408)687-9860