

Hilliard Davidson High School Brad Strahler Football Scholarship

Presented by the Davidson Touchdown Club

APPLICATION

Brad Strahler was a Hilliard parent who was very active in sports with his kids. He played football through college, so he took great enjoyment from watching his sons play the game. He was also an enthusiastic youth football coach, and his passion for his family was obvious. Brad passed away suddenly and unexpectedly during the 2003 football season when his boys were in 9th and 6th grades. Both of his sons eventually played football for Hilliard Davidson High School, graduating in 2006 and 2009. The fact that a dad like Brad never got a chance to see both of his sons win state championships as seniors at Davidson is truly tragic. After Brad passed away, a scholarship was established in his name and is awarded annually to a graduating Senior.
