Lighting Prediction and Protection:

Prediction System

Lightning is one of nature's most deadly forces. People can't predict lightning's likelihood. Unfortunately, the most dangerous locations are by water and open areas, which are areas where you are most vulnerable.

The Fox Valley Park District works directly with the National Weather Service and their respective weather prediction systems around the country. All weather-related issues will be tracked directly by the National Weather Service and communicated via the Fox Valley Park District and the Tournament Directors of Puma Generations Cup.

Recognizing the threat:

- Apply the 30-30 rule. When you see lightning, count the time until you hear thunder. If this time is 30 seconds or less, seek proper shelter. Wait 30 minutes or more after hearing the last thunder before leaving shelter.
- Obey the rules established by the community park.
- Minimize the risk of being struck. Protect the safety of all participants by stopping activities immediately, so that participants and spectators may seek shelter. If you can hear thunder, you are within reach of lightning.
- Remain calm to prevent panic by young players.

Seeking Proper Shelter:

- No place outside is safe near lightning and thunderstorms.
- Do not stay under a tent or under concession stand roof.
- The best shelter is a fully enclosed, substantially constructed building. A vehicle with a solid metal roof and metal sides is a reasonable alternative.

Most Dangerous Locations

- Higher elevations
- Wide open areas, including fields
- Tall, isolated objects, such as trees, poles, or light posts
- Unprotected open buildings
- Rain shelters
- Bus stops
- Metal fences and metal bleachers
