

CSAVBC Covid Protocol

Participating in club volleyball is voluntary and puts you at risk of exposing yourselves to others who may be sick or carriers of virus and disease. CSAVBC will respect your decision as to whether you choose to participate or not. The following lists some of the options you have as a member of the club.

If you are tested and get a positive result, you should follow the CDC recommendations for quarantine.

For a player that is quarantined from school but has not tested positive, you have two options.

1. Follow the 14 day quarantine period
2. Quarantine for 7 days and if no symptoms, you may return to CSA practices and tournaments

If we discover a positive case discovered on team, we will inform the team members and coaches of the exposure and will recommend 7 days of quarantine and to get tested for the virus. We recommend anyone who has any illness symptoms whatsoever quarantine 14 days from exposure if they choose not to get tested.

Team members may choose a 14 day quarantine due to exposure at anytime without consequence from CSAVBC or its coaching staff.
